ACADEMIC ATTIRE

The academic attire worn at commencement ceremonies today is based on a history of tradition which began in medieval Europe. At a time when the general type of clothing worn was the robe or gown, individual rank or wealth was indicated by colors and materials. As trades, professions, guilds and universities developed, distinctive variations came into being to identify the various members' individual affiliations.

Universities gradually modified the gowns, capes, hoods and caps into distinctive forms identify an individual's level of academic achievement. In the 1890s, American colleges and universities agreed upon a somewhat uniform application of the academic regalia. Typically, scholars with the bachelor's degree wear the unadorned black robe. Those with the master's degree also wear a hood lined with the colors of their college and trimmed with the specific color designated for their academic discipline area. The doctoral degree robe additionally has three velvet bars on each sleeve, and the hood is more ornate. At Palm Beach Community College, all associate degree, award, certificate and diploma graduates wear the black robe. Faculty and staff members wear the traditional attire of the college or university which conferred their degree.
